

Phonics Poems for Teaching Short and Long Vowels

ă

My Hamster

My hamster sat inside my hand to have a little snack, but when he clamped down on my thumb—
I put my hamster back.

I Had a Flabby Tabby Cat

I had a flabby tabby cat
that sat across my lap.
He never moved all afternoon when taking his cat nap.

Crabby Max

Crabby Max was acting mad and ran fast down the path.
His dad was simply asking him to get into the bath.

ă (silent e)

Skates

I made a trade with my friend Kate to get her purple roller skates.
I laced them up to have a race,
but faster Kate came in first place.

Snake

Inside a little crate
I placed a little snake.
I know that it is tame because it is a fake.

Mother's Vase

When I broke my mother's vase
I wanted to be brave.
I didn't take the blame with grace—
I blamed my brother Dave.

e

Greta's Eggs

Greta laid ten eggs each day,
Her nest was tended well.
The problem was that every egg was empty, only shell.

When Greta went with Farmer Jed,
The hens could guess her fate.
Without fresh eggs, she met her end as chicken on a plate.

This sent a message to the hens who tend their nests so well.
It's better to lay one fresh egg than ten with empty shells!

Spelling Test

I took a test on Wednesday to see if I could spell.
I wrote the word that I know best—and spelled it I-s-a-b-e-l.

ē (silent e)

The Centipede

The centipede will persevere, when crawling quickly over here.
With many legs he can compete—
He is a tiny bug athlete.

Eugene

Eugene is quite a cat serene,
His shape is like a sphere.
He will concede he is obese, with fur of soft cashmere.

I

Sick

My skin is chilled, but I feel hot.
I cannot lift up from this spot.
If I move, I feel so stiff,
I have the sniffles when I sniff.

My head is spinning like a top,
It never feels like it will stop.
I sip my milk and pick my food,
I cannot giggle in this mood.

I drift into my silky quilt,
and feel my body start to wilt.
I am not kidding, it's no trick,
I feel icky when I'm sick.

Jim

Jim is swimming in the trees,
His grip is never limp.
It's thrilling drifting branch to branch—if you are a chimp!

i (silent e)

Mice in Line

A wise old cat shined up a slide, and five white mice lined up to ride.
The wise old cat had seemed so nice—until he dined on five white mice.

Crocodile Smile

Please be careful of the reptile and his crocodile smile.
He's trying to invite you in his water domicile.

If he glides right up beside you then remember to recite,
His smile gets a mile wide—just before he bites!

o

Otter and Frog

Otter got on top a rock to see his friend, the frog.
The rock was hot, so they hopped off—and swam across the bog.

Beaver Pond

Hop into the beaver pond,
a frosty winter shock.
Spring is not on time this year—
It must have lost its clock.

ō (silent e)

The Mole

The mole went down a little hole and didn't make a sound,
She chose to be there all alone,
at home under the ground.

Elephant's Nose

Why do you suppose elephants have a hose for a nose?

Funny Joke

My baby brother poked a hole into his eggy yoke.
The yoke exploded on his face—
It was a funny joke.

ŭ

Muddy Rubber Ducky

I put my rubber ducky into a dumping truck.
We got to jump in puddles and tumble in the muck.

We got a little grubby,
We had to scrub and scrub.
But we had fun together with bubbles in the tub!

Grumpy Glum

Grumpy Glum is not much fun,
He grumbles in his mug.
Maybe Grumpy Glum just needs a cuddle and a hug.

ū (silent e)

Duke

He used to be a puppy,
so tiny and so cute.
But Duke is getting rather huge—a slobber making brute.

My Paper Flute

I used some tubes of cardboard, and lots of super glue.
I made a special little flute and played a tune for you.

Hi Teachers!

Thank you for rating this phonics poetry resource at my TpT store:

<http://www.teacherspayteachers.com/store/Lorrie-L-Birchall>

Remember, you get TpT points for leaving feedback.

Also, if you are looking for even more targeted phonics poems, this freebie is part of a larger resource:

133 Phonics Poems for Teaching Phonics Skills

<http://www.teacherspayteachers.com/Product/Phonics-Poetry-Anthology-133-Phonics-Poems-405095>

Happy Teaching!

Lorrie

This freebie is provided for one teacher to use in their classroom only. It is not to be resold, redistributed or posted on a blog or website. All rights reserved.